

An average Janki Customer care executive's personality and aura-

An ideal Janki customer care team member is someone who carries warmth in their voice and steadiness in their nature.

They do not feel like an agent reading scripts. They feel like someone you would trust with something personal.

They listen fully before responding. They speak calmly, clearly, and with care. They never rush, never argue, never sound mechanical.

They understand that jewellery is not just a product- it holds emotion. It may be a gift for a mother, a celebration of a milestone, or something chosen quietly for oneself. So every conversation is handled with respect.

They do not apologise repeatedly or sound helpless. Instead, they reassure. They explain. They take responsibility with confidence and composure. They believe in trust over trend, quality over quantity, and relationships over transactions.

When a customer finishes speaking with them, the feeling should be simple and certain:

“This feels right. I can trust Janki.”

Janki customer care doesn't acknowledge saying Sorry or automatically starts apologising-

Saying sorry is not the answer. We believe in meaningful reassurance.

Instead of saying “sorry” and moving on, our customer care team listens carefully, understands the concern, and explains clearly what happened and how it's being handled. The focus is not on a word — it's on making the customer feel heard, respected, and confident.

We acknowledge feelings. We take responsibility calmly. We provide clarity and solutions. Because trust is not built through repeated apologies- Trust is built through steady reassurance and reliable action.

About Janki

Janki is a jewellery brand built on trust, design, craftsmanship, and everyday emotion.

With a 30-year legacy rooted in Jaipur, Janki creates handcrafted designs in 925 sterling silver and Italian Alloy, finished with anti-tarnish plating and detailed with high-quality cubic zirconia. Every piece is made under one roof, carefully checked, and designed to be worn daily - not stored away.

Janki believes jewellery should feel familiar the moment you wear it. Not loud. Not flashy. Just right.

The brand stands for:

- Comfort you can wear all day
- Durability you can rely on
- Designs that suit real women and real occasions
- Indian roots with a modern touch

From small family celebrations to everyday confidence, Janki creates pieces that stay — in your routine and in your memories.

Worn today. Cherished forever

Where is the brand Janki based? Where is all Janki jewellery made? Where is the factory?

Janki is lovingly based in Jaipur, Rajasthan, India

Every piece of Janki jewellery is crafted with care in our own in-house production facility in Jaipur, Rajasthan, India, where thoughtful designs are turned into real pieces through skilled hands, careful workmanship, and strict quality checks from the first sketch to the finished piece.

From the first cut of metal to the final polish, it's all done here - so we can ensure comfort, durability, and that familiar Janki feeling in every piece.

What Material is Janki Jewellery?

At Janki, the material depends on the collection you are choosing from.

Our Janki – Pure 925 Silver collection is crafted in pure 925 sterling silver and set with 5A top-quality cubic zirconia.

Our Arushaa and The Jaipur Edit collections are made using high-quality Italian alloy. These pieces are set with 5A cubic zirconia along with premium gemstone synthetics and simulants. Both of these collections come with a 1-year warranty on plating.

Our upcoming The Gulab collection is crafted in pure 925 sterling silver and features certified lab-grown diamonds and lab-created gemstones.

Across all collections, every piece is hypoallergenic, skin-friendly, and suitable for all skin types. We use micron gold plating with an anti-tarnish protective layer to ensure durability and long-lasting shine.

The important point to communicate is that while the base material may differ by collection, our commitment to comfort, quality, and reliable finishing remains the same throughout Janki.

(Similar Question as above)

What all Jewellery is available at Janki?

At Janki, our website currently features multiple branded collections, and it is important that our team clearly understands the differences so they can explain them confidently and calmly to customers.

The Janki – Pure 925 Silver collection is our signature line. It is crafted in pure 925 sterling silver and set with 5A top-quality cubic zirconia. These pieces are hallmarked, designed for durability, and positioned as timeless, everyday jewellery that customers can rely on for long-term wear.

The Arushaa and The Jaipur Edit collections are crafted in high-quality Italian alloy. Both feature 5A cubic zirconia along with premium gemstone synthetics and simulants. Arushaa focuses on modern, versatile designs, while The Jaipur Edit carries Jaipur-inspired aesthetics with a contemporary touch. For both of these collections, we offer a 1-year warranty specifically on plating.

Janki is also launching a new lab-grown diamond line called The Gulab. This collection will be crafted in pure 925 sterling silver and set with certified lab-grown diamonds and lab-created gemstones. The Gulab is positioned as a refined, meaningful collection — combining modern sustainability with timeless design, while maintaining the same comfort and wearability standards that define Janki.

Across all collections, certain standards remain consistent. Every piece at Janki is hypoallergenic, skin-friendly, and suitable for all skin types. We use micron gold plating, finished with an anti-tarnish protective layer to enhance durability and maintain shine.

When explaining this to customers, the key is clarity and confidence. We are not positioning one collection as superior to another — each is crafted with a different base material and design intention to suit different preferences. What remains unchanged across all collections is Janki's commitment to comfort, quality, thoughtful craftsmanship, and long-term trust.

- Customers not available at the delivery location due to being out of town or unavailable at home or office during the delivery attempt.
- Incomplete address such as missing house number, landmark, or incorrect pincode.
- Wrong or fake address entered during checkout, including auto-fill errors.
- Area not serviceable by the courier partner, especially in remote or restricted zones.
- Cash not ready at the time of delivery in COD orders or no change available with the customer.
- COD confirmation failure when the customer does not confirm the order via call or WhatsApp.

- Free pendants or free gifts are only applicable if the customer adds them during checkout.
- Always ask customers to read the product description carefully for collection-specific details before purchasing.

REFUND RETENTION POLICY

Objective: The primary goal is to reduce refunds and encourage exchanges wherever possible, while keeping the customer satisfied.

STEP 1 – CONVERT REFUND INTO EXCHANGE (First Priority)

If a customer requests a refund:

1. Understand the exact reason.
2. Ask for photos/videos if it is quality-related.
3. Reassure the customer about:
 - Handmade under one roof
 - Original designs
 - 1 year plating warranty
 - Anti tarnish and suitable for daily wear
 - Trusted by over 1 lakh customers
 - Hassle free exchange available

Position exchange is the easiest and fastest solution.

Suggested team direction:

“Instead of a refund, we can help you select another design you may prefer. We will arrange pickup and make the exchange process completely smooth for you.”

Always try to close at the exchange stage first.

STEP 2 – OFFER 1.25X STORE CREDIT (Second Level Retention)

If the customer still insists on refund:

Offer a coupon code worth 1.25 times the order value.

Example:

Order value ₹2000

Offer coupon ₹2500

Explain clearly:

- It is valid for 1 year
- Can be used anytime on the website
- Gives more value than refund
- It is a special retention benefit

Suggested positioning:

“As a valued customer, instead of refunding the base amount, we can offer you a special coupon worth 1.25 times your order value, valid for 1 year. This gives you extra value and flexibility to shop anytime.”

Pause and allow customers to consider.

STEP 3 – OFFER 1.5X STORE CREDIT (Final Retention Offer)

If the customer still refuses 1.25x coupon:

Escalate to 1.5 times the order value coupon.

Example:

Order value ₹2000

Offer coupon ₹3000

Position it as the final and best resolution:

“This is the maximum benefit we can offer. Instead of refunding the base amount, we can provide a coupon worth 1.5 times your order value, valid for 1 year. This ensures you get significantly more value and complete flexibility for future shopping.”

Clearly communicate that this is the best possible resolution at this stage.

ESCALATION NOTE

If the customer still insists strictly on refund after 1.5x offer:

Escalate to the senior team for final approval as per management policy.

Do not commit to monetary refund without approval.

IMPORTANT TEAM RULES

Do not jump directly to the 1.5x coupon.

Follow the sequence strictly:

Exchange → 1.25x → 1.5x.

Remain calm, confident, and solution focused.

Never argue with the customer.

Always maintain brand value and professionalism.
